

A vertical column of ten blank musical staves. Each staff consists of five horizontal lines and begins with a treble clef on the left side. The staves are empty, providing space for musical notation.